Galveston County believes that its citizens can participate in their own informed governance only to the extent that they understand the actions taken by its executive body, the Galveston County Commissioners Court. Transparency of Commissioners Court actions promotes citizen understanding, which in turn generates feedback that improves governance.

An important part of the Commissioners Court's actions involves finances: the means by which the county raises revenues (1), and the purposes for which it makes expenditures (2).

Basic transparency in financial planning is achieved through the annual budget process. Workshops open to the public are held during the summer months to discuss the various departments' needs for spending as constrained by the expected availability of financial resources. A detailed, county-wide budget is subsequently adopted in a formal meeting of the Commissioners Court.

Basic transparency in financial reporting is achieved through the publication of the county's Comprehensive Annual Financial Report ("CAFR"), prepared in accordance with the strict regulations of the Governmental Accounting Standards Board. The CAFR contains the opinion of an independent audit firm of Certified Public Accountants as to whether the financial data included therein presents fairly the financial position of the county. Governmental entities that issue CAFRs of the highest quality may apply for the Governmental Finance Officers Association's "Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting". Galveston County is proud to have received its twentieth consecutive "Certificate of Achievement" for the CAFR for its fiscal year ended September 30, 2016, and it expects to receive its twenty first award for its CAFR for the fiscal year ended September 30, 2017, now under review.

Galveston County has achieved enhanced transparency in financial reporting through its participation in the Texas State Comptroller's "Transparency Stars" program. This program prescribes that certain documents - for example, multiple years of adopted budgets, CAFRS, and check registers - be made easily accessible in electronic format on the county's internet pages. The county is a proud participant in the Transparency Stars program.

(1) Revenues are financial inflows such as ad valorem property tax collections, grants received from governmental agencies, and fees paid by individuals for services provided by the County Clerk, District Clerk, Tax Assessor-Collector, etc.

(2) Expenditures are financial outflows used to pay for the ongoing operations of the county - for public safety, health and social welfare, culture and recreation, conservation, road and flood-control projects, and the administration of county government.
